GOOGLE SKETCHUP TRAINING SESSION

The Central Section of the Pennsylvania/Delaware Chapter of the American Society of Landscape Architects is proud to host a training session for intermediate/advanced skills in Google SketchUp.

- When: Tuesday, April 20, 2010 from 4 - 6:30 pm
- Where: Eden Resort & Suites, Lancaster, PA
- Extra: 2 CEU's will be offered for course completion
- Cost: $25 per person; light refreshments and coffee will be served

** Seating is limited to the first 30 respondents, so act fast! ****

Our certified MICRODESK instructor is tailoring the training format to provide ASLA with 2 hours of interactive instruction geared toward our members' interests.

Topics to be Covered:

- Working with Photographs - projecting photos onto your model and using the Photomatch tool
- Stylizing your Model - creating, editing, and applying styles; adding details with Google Warehouse
- Creating a Scene-based Walkthrough
- Additional topics, if time allows: modeling terrain using "Sandbox" tools, importing/exporting models with Google Earth

Please Note:

- This is an intermediate-level course intended for people already familiar with basic SketchUp skills and tools.
- Participants may bring their own laptops to follow along during class. Please remember your power cords!
- You will need a basic 3-button scroll wheel mouse to use SketchUp efficiently.
- Please have SketchUp software already downloaded onto your computer prior to class.

After the session, please join us at Garfield's for networking with our peers!
